SUE'S ANGELS

JUIZO FC

SUN, 25 OCTOBER 2026 · 10:30 · SUPREME TROPHIES MARCUS LIPTON CUP

Clapham Common

01 AWAY FROM HOME

On the road.

Sue’s Angels are away this morning, at Clapham Common, and this one is Supreme Trophies Marcus Lipton Cup.

Juizo FC are the hosts and kick-off is 10:30.

The club arrives here having won League Ten in 25/26 with a record of played 18, won 18, drawn 0, lost 0. 90 goals scored, 11 conceded, 54 points from a possible 54.

That season is finished. It earned the club the right to be here and it will not win a header this morning. Three of those eighteen were walkovers that carry no score, which the club says out loud because it is the reason the other fifteen are worth believing.

Sue's Angels FC has played 44 matches in total across two seasons since it was founded in 2025. This programme is a record of all of it: who is here, what they have done, where the club has been and who it is about to play.

Everything printed in it is counted from the club’s own match records rather than remembered, which is why there are no round numbers in it, and why, where something has not been written down, this programme says so instead of filling the gap.

Enjoy the match.

02 TODAY’S OPPONENT

Juizo FC.

Today the club plays Juizo FC.

It is a first meeting. There is no result, no team sheet and no previous scoreline against them anywhere in the club’s records, which means neither side has a form guide on the other and both are working from nothing.

That is worth stating plainly rather than filling with speculation. This programme does not know how they line up, who takes their free kicks or what they did last weekend, and it is not going to guess: the first honest paragraph about Juizo FC will be written after full time.

03 THE SQUAD

Every man in the squad.

34 players are registered for the season. What follows is every one of them and what the club's records say: appearances, goals, assists, cards, clean sheets and the day they joined. Nobody is described here in a way the archive cannot support, and nobody is left out for being quiet.

Appearances count starts and any substitute the record can prove came on. A name on the bench with nothing beside it is not an appearance, which is why some of these figures are lower than a player might remember them being, and why they can only ever move upwards as the record improves.

04 25/26 IN FULL

The season that got the club here.

25/26 was the club’s first full season and it produced 33 competitive matches across five competitions. Won 29, drawn 1, lost 3. Scored 137, conceded 25.

In the league itself the record was perfect: 18 played, 18 won, 54 points, and a goal difference of 79. Three of those eighteen were awarded as walkovers and carry no score, so the ninety goals were scored in fifteen matches rather than eighteen. That is a detail worth keeping in front of the figure rather than behind it.

What follows is every competitive match of that season in order, with the competition it was in and whether the scorers were written down at the time.

05 25/26

The season, and what it took.

It began on 21 September 2025 against Pure Football FC 2.0 and finished on 31 May 2026 against Hillside Elite FC Blues, and in between the club did not lose a league match.

That sentence is easy to write and it was not an easy thing to do. A season is not won in the matches everybody expects to win. It is won on the mornings when the pitch is heavy, when eleven turn into nine by half past ten, and when the side in front of you has decided that being the team to beat the unbeaten team is worth a broken shin.

There were afternoons when it was over inside twenty minutes: ten matches won by five or more, and 90 league goals across the campaign.

At the back it conceded in only eight league matches, keeping seven clean sheets across the season. Eleven goals conceded in a league campaign is the number that ought to travel worst between divisions, and it is the one this season will test first.

Three fixtures were awarded rather than played, which the club has never tried to hide and does not count as a goal either way. It is the reason the ninety were scored in fifteen matches rather than eighteen, and the reason the rest of the record is worth believing.

The cups ran alongside it: 15 matches in knockout football, which is a different game from a league. A league forgives a bad morning and a cup does not.

It ended against FC Porto of London on 17 May 2026, 0-3. A club in its first season reaching a final is worth more than the result of it, and the result is in this programme anyway, because a record that only keeps the good days is not a record.

None of it counts this morning. That is not false modesty, it is the league table: it is empty, and everybody in this division starts level with everybody else. What last season bought was the right to find out what this squad is worth two divisions higher, which is the only thing anybody here actually wanted.

06 MATCH REPORTS

In their own words.

Eleven matches in the archive carry a report somebody sat down and wrote afterwards. They are reprinted here in full.

Everything else in this programme is counted. These are not: they are the only pages in it written by a person, and they are the ones worth reading twice.

PEPS ALL STARS 0-4 SUE'S ANGELS FC

11 OCTOBER 2026 · BRIAN HOWARD PRESIDENT'S CUP · AWAY

A stunning opener from Ade and two goals in quick succession after half-time helped us secure a 4–0 win at Pep's All Stars and a place in the second round of the Brian Howard President's Cup.

Ade finished the afternoon with two goals, with LJ and Dan McLane also finding the net as we returned from Dulwich with a clean sheet and our cup campaign underway.

Six minutes, and the trip was worth it

It took just six minutes for us to break the deadlock, and the opener was worth the trip alone. Andy's cushioned header found Ade outside the area, where he produced a beautifully controlled volley to lob the goalkeeper and put us ahead.

The second arrived in the 28th minute. Sebastian launched a Rory Delap-esque throw into the penalty area, and LJ met it with a glancing header to double our lead.

There could have been more before the break. Both Charlie and Ade struck the crossbar, and on another afternoon we might have gone into half-time four goals ahead. Pep's still offered a threat on the counter, though, providing a reminder that there was work left to do.

Manage it, and finish it off

At 2–0, Stephen's half-time message was clear: manage the game more efficiently and finish it off.

Pep's returned with renewed energy and started the second half brightly, catching us a little cold as they looked for a way back into the tie. Our response, however, came quickly.

A break forward earned our first corner of the half, and Dean delivered a beautiful ball onto Dan McLane's head. Having scored regularly from corners last season, Dan showed that familiar threat again, heading home in the 49th minute to give us breathing space. On the balance of play, the three-goal advantage was a fair reflection of the chances we had created.

The best move of the afternoon

Just two minutes later, we added a fourth through one of the best moves of the afternoon.

Starting with Andy's throw inside our own half, LJ flicked the ball on to Charlie, whose clever touch released Ade making a third-man run from just beyond halfway. Through one-on-one, Ade remained cool, calm and composed, rounding the goalkeeper before tapping into the empty net with his right foot.

It was a goal that combined sharp thinking, well-timed movement and an assured finish, putting us firmly in control of the tie.

Seeing it out

Further chances followed. Charlie struck the post to complete a frustrating afternoon in front of goal, having already hit the crossbar before the break. Substitute Jon Lloyd also came close with an ambitious effort from around 40 yards after spotting the opposition goalkeeper stranded out of position.

We saw out the remaining minutes comfortably, protecting our clean sheet and securing a place in round two against Celtic Swans.

Next up

Our next League Eight match was to have been at home to Mousa Mountain on Sunday 18 October. It will not be played. Mousa Mountain have folded, and the fixture has been called off. It is never good news when a club goes under and we wish everybody there well.

That leaves the President's Cup second round at home to Celtic Swans as the next fixture in the diary. The date is still to be confirmed.

Thank you to Pep’s All Stars for hosting us. We wish them all the best for the rest of the season.

JUNCTION ELITE FC SUNDAY 3RD TEAM 0-3 SUE'S ANGELS FC

20 SEPTEMBER 2026 · LEAGUE EIGHT · AWAY

Junction Elite 0 Sue’s Angels FC 3

Sue’s Angels maintained their perfect League Eight start with a disciplined 3-0 victory over Junction Elite.

A first-half brace from Ade Owolana put the Angels in control before Charlie Dunkley completed the scoring late on. Luke Munns and the defence secured the club’s first clean sheet of the season.

Junction Elite 0 Sue’s Angels 3: Owolana 2 and 30, Dunkley 84

Ade makes an immediate impact

The Angels needed only two minutes to take the lead.

Making his first start of the season at left wing-back, Michael Brabrook controlled the ball before lifting a perfectly weighted pass over the Junction defence.

Ade brought it down calmly and, with only the goalkeeper to beat, placed his finish to the keeper’s right.

Junction responded with a spell of possession, but the Angels remained organised. Their opponents moved the ball neatly through midfield without finding a way through the defensive shape. Most attempted final passes were comfortably collected by Luke, who remained largely untested during the opening half-hour.

Michael defended his side well, while Daniel McLane’s composure helped nullify Junction’s attempts to create an overload down the Angels’ left.

The second arrives

The Angels gradually took greater control of possession, with Stewart Luwawa and the returning Richard Epathite working through a competitive midfield battle.

Junction operated with a 4-3-3 and regularly pushed their right-sided midfielder forward to create an extra option. The Angels adjusted well, keeping their shape and preventing that possession from becoming clear chances.

At the other end, Leon Burnett’s strength created the opportunity for a second goal. Leon collected the ball during a scramble near the edge of the area, held off his defender and turned before being fouled.

Ade took responsibility from around 22 yards, slightly to the right of goal. The left-footer went to the goalkeeper’s side and found the bottom-left corner to make it 2-0.

It completed a clinical first-half brace and gave the Angels a deserved advantage.

Dean provides the outlet

Dean Knight was a constant option at right wing-back, combining effectively with Ade, Charlie and Leon.

One low cross travelled beyond three Junction defenders before taking an awkward bounce in front of Leon. The ball struck the forward’s shin and went over the bar. A cleaner bounce would likely have left Leon with a straightforward finish.

The Angels entered half-time two goals ahead, but the instruction was clear: remain focused and find the third. Junction had shown enough on the ball to remain a threat if allowed back into the contest.

Luke Munns kept the club's first clean sheet of the season: nothing conceded, one shot on target faced, one save

Angels manage the second half

Adam Marie replaced Michael at half-time. Robert Heath moved to left wing-back, with Adam joining Jimi El Bayati and Daniel in the back three.

As expected, Junction began the second half with greater aggression. Their best move came down the flank before a pull-back found the forward inside the area. Luke saved the resulting shot, Junction's only effort on target, and remained determined to protect the clean sheet.

That proved to be the home side's final meaningful opportunity.

George Churchill replaced Robert after 60 minutes as the Angels continued to manage the game with maturity. The defence stayed compact, the midfield competed for second balls and the forwards continued to press Junction's attempts to play out.

Charlie seals the result

The third goal arrived in the 84th minute and once again began through Dean.

A quick throw found Leon, who laid the ball back into Dean's path. The wing-back delivered first time, causing uncertainty between the Junction goalkeeper and centre-back.

The loose ball fell to Charlie, who finished emphatically off the underside of the crossbar. A defender attempted to keep it out with his hands, but the ball had already found its way into the net.

It was a deserved reward for Charlie's relentless running and pressing. He had been denied earlier by good goalkeeping and determined defending, but his persistence was eventually rewarded.

Liam Kirby replaced Charlie immediately after the goal, with Andrew Allen coming on for Dean Knight during the closing minutes.

The 150th goal

Charlie's finish was the club's 150th goal in competitive football.

Sue's Angels have played 36 competitive matches* since forming in 2025, in the league and the cups, and have scored 150 times in them. The three at Richardson Evans were numbers 148, 149 and 150.

* Three of the 36 were walkovers, which count as played but carry no goals.

The club's 150th competitive goal: Charlie Dunkley, 84th minute at Junction Elite, with his career record of 28 appearances, 29 goals and 22 assists

Three from three: 2-1 v Three Little Birds, 8-1 v Haydons Park, 3-0 at Junction Elite

A complete away performance

The result gave the Angels three wins from three League Eight matches and their first clean sheet of the season.

Michael marked his first start of the campaign with an assist and an excellent defensive display. Dean recorded his third league assist of the season, while Charlie moved to five goals in three league appearances.

Ade was named Player of the Match after taking his total to five competitive goals from his opening three appearances. He has now scored five times across consecutive matches, including a hat-trick against Haydons Park and this decisive brace against Junction.

It was a workmanlike team performance built on structure, patience and clinical finishing. All three starting forwards played a part in the goals, while Luke and the defence earned their clean sheet with another composed display.

SUE'S ANGELS FC 8-1 HAYDONS PARK

13 SEPTEMBER 2026 · LEAGUE EIGHT · HOME

Sue's Angels FC 8–1 Haydons Park

Sue's Angels FC delivered the response they had demanded from themselves, defeating Haydons Park 8–1 at The Reeves Sports Club to move to the top of League Eight.

Hat-tricks from Player of the Match Ade Owolana and Charlie Dunkley were accompanied by goals from Leon Burnett and Elis Brumpton, who scored his first competitive goal for the club.

The afternoon also featured three significant appearances. Former captain Jimi El Bayati came out of retirement to start at the heart of the defence, while Danny Cain and George Churchill both made their competitive Sue's Angels debuts from the bench.

It was a day of goals, milestones and returning faces, but above everything else, it was the performance the Angels wanted following the frustrations of the previous weekend.

A response was required

Seven days earlier, Sue's Angels had opened their League Eight campaign with a hard-fought 2–1 victory over Three Little Birds FC.

The result secured three important points in the club's first match following a two-division promotion, but the players knew their performance had fallen below the standards established during the previous season.

Three Little Birds had started strongly, created several opportunities and forced Luke Munns into making eight saves. Sue's Angels were required to change from a 4-1-3-2 into a 4-2-3-1 before eventually finishing the contest in a 5-3-2 to protect their lead.

Goals from Jon Lloyd and Dunkley proved enough, but the Angels left The Reeves knowing there was considerable room for improvement.

Against Haydons Park, the response was immediate.

A familiar leader returns

Sue's Angels started the match in a 3-4-1-2 formation, with a familiar and much-loved figure returning at the centre of the back three.

Jimi El Bayati had announced his retirement after the club's historic first season. His expected final appearance had ended in fitting fashion, with a commanding performance, a clean sheet and a Player of the Match award.

The former captain had helped establish the standards and dressing-room culture that carried Sue's Angels through an undefeated League Ten campaign. His influence was recognised when he received the 2025/26 Clubman of the Year award.

Jimi was expected to remain with the Angels as part of the coaching staff, but his playing career appeared to be over.

Against Haydons Park, the boots came back out.

Jimi did not return simply for a late appearance after the result had been secured. He started the match at the heart of the defence, bringing experience, leadership and composure to the Angels' shape from the opening whistle.

With Jimi providing the foundation from the back, Sue's Angels immediately took control.

Angels set the tone

The players pressed high, recovered possession quickly and prevented Haydons Park from settling into the contest.

When the Angels had the ball, they moved it patiently from one side of the pitch to the other, waiting for the right moment to attack. Every pass carried purpose, and each press was supported by another player.

Whenever possession was lost, the reaction was immediate.

It was a completely different beginning from the previous weekend.

Against Three Little Birds, Munns had been required to keep the Angels in the match. Against Haydons Park, the goalkeeper was largely a spectator as the action unfolded in the visitors' half.

The pressure eventually produced the opening goal.

A quick break released LJ, whose intelligent run took him into the space behind the Haydons Park right-back. He delivered an excellent cross into the penalty area, where the ball fell to Dunkley.

Charlie initially looked for an angle to shoot. When he realised the attempt was not available, he showed composure and awareness to lay the ball into the path of Owolana.

Ade shifted it onto his favoured left foot and placed his finish beyond the goalkeeper. The Haydons Park captain attempted to block the shot but instead left his goalkeeper unsighted and with little chance of reacting.

It was a composed finish and a deserved reward for the Angels' dominant start.

Leon doubles the advantage

The opening goal increased the confidence within the team.

Haydons Park struggled to cope with the Angels' pressing, movement and retention of possession. Sue's Angels continued moving the ball across the pitch, refusing to force an opening when a better opportunity could be created.

The second goal arrived through a more direct attack.

A long pass from the back found Dean Knight, who read the flight of the ball and intelligently headed it into Burnett's path.

Leon drove towards goal and placed the opposition centre-back under immediate pressure. As he attempted to advance into a scoring position, he was brought down.

The referee was left with little choice but to point to the penalty spot.

Andy Allen, the club's designated penalty taker, collected the ball. However, he decided to hand the responsibility to Leon, giving him the opportunity to finish the move he had created.

Leon remained composed and sent his penalty to the goalkeeper's right to make it 2–0.

The scoreline carried a warning.

Only one week earlier, Sue's Angels had taken the same advantage against Three Little Birds before allowing the visitors back into the match.

Everyone knows how quickly a 2–0 lead can become uncomfortable when the opposition scores next.

This time, the Angels refused to leave the door open.

From two to five

Five minutes after Leon's penalty, Dunkley scored the third.

Charlie had produced one of the early moments of the season during the opening weekend, scoring a spectacular right-footed strike from approximately 30 yards against Three Little Birds.

One week later, he continued his excellent start to the campaign by adding another goal.

The third removed any remaining uncertainty from the contest, but Sue's Angels refused to reduce their intensity.

Four minutes later, Ade scored his second.

Charlie was once again central to the move. His energy and movement caused further problems for the Haydons Park defence before he created the opportunity for Ade.

Having opened the scoring with his favoured left foot, Ade demonstrated his composure on the opposite side by finishing confidently with his right.

Sue's Angels led 4–0.

Before the interval, captain Daniel McLane stepped forward from defence and delivered a beautifully weighted lofted pass over the opposition back line.

Dunkley timed his run perfectly, advanced towards goal and converted the opportunity to score his second of the match.

The Angels entered half-time with a commanding 5–0 advantage.

A first half that set the standard

It had been an outstanding opening 45 minutes.

Jimi's return had provided a calm and experienced presence at the centre of the defence. In front of him, the Angels pressed relentlessly, retained possession and attacked with confidence.

Haydons Park had been given very little opportunity to establish themselves in the game.

For those watching, the performance brought back memories of last season's 6–0 home victory over Brockwell Violets.

That afternoon had been one of the Angels' most complete performances during their title-winning campaign. The pressing, movement and control displayed against Haydons Park carried many of the same qualities.

Brockwell earned promotion alongside Sue's Angels and will be faced again later this season. The first half against Haydons Park demonstrated that the Angels can produce the same level of football in their new division.

One leader makes way for a new Angel

The manager's half-time message was clear.

The standards had been set, but they now had to be maintained.

The first-half performance had shown desire, confidence and a passion for everything the club represents. The players were told not to become distracted by the scoreline or allow the intensity to disappear.

Sue's Angels was founded in memory of Susan Anne Martin. Every time the players represent the badge, they carry a meaning that reaches beyond the result of a football match.

It is more than just a club.

Jimi's work was complete after 45 minutes. His return had helped the Angels establish a five-goal lead and ensured Haydons Park were given little encouragement during the opening half.

At the interval, the former captain made way for Danny Cain.

The change connected two stages of the club's story. One of the original leaders from the title-winning team left the field, and a new player entered to begin his own competitive journey with Sue's Angels.

Danny joined the back three for his competitive debut and helped the team continue controlling the match after the restart.

Elis opens his competitive account

The Angels began the second half exactly where they had left off.

Haydons Park's goalkeeper produced several impressive saves to prevent the scoreline from increasing further. His resistance eventually forced Sue's Angels to settle for a corner following another period of pressure.

Knight delivered an excellent ball into the penalty area.

Brumpton attacked it decisively and headed home from inside the six-yard box in the 57th minute.

The goal made it 6–0 and represented an important personal milestone.

It was Elis' first competitive goal for Sue's Angels.

The midfielder had been named Player of the Match in the opening-day victory over Three Little Birds. Seven days later, he continued his strong start to the campaign by adding his name to the scoresheet.

His opening two performances have demonstrated his ability to influence very different matches.

Against Three Little Birds, he stood out during a difficult contest in which the Angels were required to adapt and protect a narrow lead.

Against Haydons Park, he helped the team control possession and territory before marking the performance with his first competitive goal.

George joins the competitive story

Three minutes after Elis made it six, another debut arrived.

George Churchill was introduced from the bench in the 60th minute, replacing Andy Allen and taking his place at left wing-back.

It was George's first competitive appearance for Sue's Angels.

He entered with the team firmly in control but still determined to maintain its intensity and attacking purpose.

His introduction gave him the opportunity to experience League Eight football, settle into the team's system and contribute during the closing half an hour.

With Danny beginning the second half and George joining shortly afterwards, two more players had now represented Sue's Angels in competitive football.

From the sublime to the wasteful

The following half an hour became one of the strangest periods of finishing the Angels are likely to experience this season.

Sue's Angels continued creating opportunities and repeatedly found their way through the Haydons Park defence. However, after converting six times, the finishing suddenly deserted them.

Clear chances came and went.

The Angels had moved from the sublime to the wasteful. On another afternoon, and with greater composure in front of goal, the scoreline could easily have increased from six to ten, eleven or even twelve.

It was the clearest area for improvement in an otherwise dominant team performance.

Haydons Park were eventually handed an opportunity to reduce the deficit.

The ball bounced up and struck Lloyd on the hand close to the edge of the penalty area. There was uncertainty over whether the contact had taken place inside or outside the box.

The referee decided it was inside and pointed to the penalty spot.

The Haydons Park captain (Aaron McNamara) stepped forward and calmly sent the spot kick to Munns' right to make it 6–1.

It was a frustrating way for the Angels to lose their clean sheet.

Luke had otherwise enjoyed a quiet afternoon, making two saves from distance and confidently claiming the ball whenever Haydons Park attempted to deliver it into his area.

The Angels demand more

With only a few minutes remaining before stoppage time, many teams would have accepted the result and waited for the final whistle.

Sue's Angels wanted more.

Charlie continued to press, chase and compete for every ball. His relentless approach created another problem for the opposition defence and earned the Angels a free kick approximately 25 yards from goal.

Dunkley took responsibility.

He curled his effort around the defensive wall and into the net to complete his hat-trick and restore the six-goal advantage.

Sue's Angels led 7–1.

Even then, the scoring was not finished.

Shortly before the final whistle, the Angels launched one final counterattack.

Four players broke forward against two Haydons Park defenders. Leon carried the ball and assessed the options around him, while Ade continued his run to the left.

Leon released the pass into Ade's path.

Owolana collected the ball inside the penalty area, opened his body and calmly placed a left-footed finish beyond the goalkeeper.

The goal completed Ade's hat-trick and brought the scoring to a close.

Ade named Player of the Match

Ade's performance earned him the Player of the Match award.

Player of the Match: Ade Owolana, three goals against Haydons Park

The attacking midfielder had shown his quality throughout pre-season, where his movement, confidence in possession and finishing ability made an immediate impression.

The challenge was to carry that form into competitive football.

Against Haydons Park, he delivered a clear answer.

Ade scored with both feet, consistently found space between the opposition midfield and defence and combined effectively with the players around him.

His opening two goals were created by Charlie, while his third came after he maintained the energy and determination to join the final counterattack.

It was not only a hat-trick performance. It was an early demonstration of the additional attacking quality the Angels have added for their League Eight campaign.

A statement response

The difference between the opening two weekends was clear.

Against Three Little Birds, Sue's Angels demonstrated resilience. The team had to absorb pressure, change shape and defend a narrow advantage.

Against Haydons Park, the Angels demonstrated authority.

The pressing was aggressive. The possession had purpose. The movement repeatedly opened the opposition defence, and the players continued searching for goals until the final whistle.

There are still lessons to take forward.

The Angels should have converted more of their second-half opportunities. Conceding from the penalty spot also denied a largely untroubled defence the clean sheet its performance deserved.

However, those details should not overshadow the quality of the overall display.

The players were asked to respond after falling below their standards during the opening weekend.

They responded with eight goals.

Top after Gameweek Two

The victory moved Sue's Angels to the top of League Eight after Gameweek Two.

The Angels have collected six points from six, scoring ten goals and conceding two. Their goal difference of plus eight placed them three points clear at the end of the weekend, although several clubs had played only once.

More importantly, Sue's Angels were the only team to have won both of their opening league matches.

Last season's undefeated League Ten campaign created high expectations, but League Eight represents a fresh challenge.

The opening two fixtures have already demonstrated two different routes to victory.

One required resilience and tactical flexibility.

The other displayed confidence, control and attacking quality.

Both ended with three points.

Sue's Angels have made the perfect start.

Now the challenge is to maintain it.

SUE'S ANGELS FC 2-1 THREE LITTLE BIRDS FC

6 SEPTEMBER 2026 · LEAGUE EIGHT · HOME

Sue's Angels FC began their League Eight campaign with a hard-fought 2–1 victory over Three Little Birds FC at The Reeves Sports Club.

Following last season's perfect league campaign and a two-division rise, the Angels entered the new season with high ambitions. However, their opening fixture quickly demonstrated that points at this level would have to be earned.

Three Little Birds started the game strongly and caused several problems during the opening exchanges. The visitors played with confidence, moved the ball effectively and created opportunities that forced Sue's Angels onto the back foot.

Luke Munns was called into action on several occasions and produced a number of important saves to keep the game level. His eight saves across the match proved vital, particularly during a difficult opening period in which the Angels struggled to find their usual rhythm.

Sue's Angels' task was made more difficult when Andy Allen pulled up with a hamstring injury. Stephen Potter was introduced at left-back, while the team moved away from its starting 4-1-3-2 formation and switched to a 4-2-3-1.

The tactical adjustment made an immediate difference.

The additional presence in midfield gave the Angels greater control, improved the team's defensive balance and gradually shifted the momentum of the game. After weathering the early pressure, Sue's Angels began to play with more confidence and find spaces in the opposition half.

The breakthrough arrived following excellent hold-up play from Leon Burnett. Leon used his strength to bring the ball under control and helped release Charlie Dunkley into a dangerous position inside the penalty area.

Rather than forcing an attempt at goal, Charlie showed composure and awareness to lay the ball into the path of Jon Lloyd. Lloyd made no mistake, producing a classy finish to put the Angels ahead.

The opening goal changed the feeling around the game. Sue's Angels began playing with greater belief, and just five minutes later they doubled their advantage through an extraordinary moment from Dunkley.

Collecting the ball around 30 yards from goal, Charlie unleashed a stunning right-footed strike seemingly out of nowhere. The ball flew beyond the Three Little Birds goalkeeper and into the net, leaving him with absolutely no chance.

It was a spectacular finish and an immediate contender for the club's Goal of the Season award.

Having endured a challenging start, the Angels had shown their quality to establish a two-goal advantage. The players protected the lead for the remainder of the first half and went into the interval 2–0 ahead.

The half-time message was clear.

The players were reminded of the standards they had established and the achievements that had brought them to League Eight. They were also reminded of the level of concentration required to finish the job. There was a clear focus on limiting the opposition's opportunities during the second half and managing the game more effectively.

For much of the second period, the contest resembled the calm before the storm. The game passed without any major incident, with Sue's Angels managing their advantage while Three Little Birds searched for a way back into the match.

However, with 11 minutes remaining, the visitors were handed renewed hope.

Munns, who had been dependable throughout the contest and had played such an important role in keeping the Angels ahead, misjudged a corner that went directly into the goal. It was an unfortunate error from a goalkeeper who had otherwise produced several crucial saves.

The goal immediately changed the atmosphere.

At 2–1, Three Little Birds sensed an opportunity to rescue a point on the opening day and increased the pressure during the closing stages. Sue's Angels were required to demonstrate a different side of their game.

In response, the Angels made another tactical adjustment and moved into a 5-3-2 formation. The change provided greater defensive security, added another presence across the back line and allowed the team to remain compact through midfield.

The players stayed focused, managed the final minutes and refused to allow the setback to derail the result. Sue's Angels successfully saw out the remaining time and walked away with all three points.

It was not the team's best performance, and there will be areas to improve as the season develops. Three Little Birds deserve credit for the problems they caused and for remaining competitive until the final whistle.

For Sue's Angels, however, the opening day was ultimately about getting points on the board.

Following a historic debut campaign and a two-division rise, the expectations surrounding the club are naturally higher. The performance may not have reached the standards the players have set for themselves, but successful seasons are not built solely on comfortable victories.

They are also shaped by difficult matches when a team must adapt, remain together and find a way to win.

The Angels did exactly that.

Three different formations. Two excellent goals. One determined team performance. Most importantly, three points.

The League Eight campaign is underway.

PURE FOOTBALL FC 2.0 0-2 SUE'S ANGELS FC

2 AUGUST 2026 · PRE-SEASON FRIENDLY · AWAY

Sue’s Angels FC beat Pure Football FC 2.0 2-0 away in a pre-season friendly on Sunday 2 August 2026, at Barn Elms Sports centre, a solid win.

Sue’s Angels FC lined up in a 3-4-2-1. Stewart Luwawa wore the armband.

On the scoresheet: Ade Owolana (with his left foot from inside the box) and Leon Burnett (with his right foot from outside the box, sent through by Ade Owolana).

Neither Ade Owolana nor Leon Burnett had started a competitive match for the club before this one. Luke Munns has kept thirteen clean sheets for the club.

Pure Football will be in League Eight with us this season, so it was a useful early look at them. The youngsters were quality at the back alongside Jim.

Jeev impressed in the first half. Stewart was given the armband and looked rusty, understandably in a first pre-season game.

Harry brought that engine in the middle, on the front foot all afternoon, never stopped running. Good to see the boys come off the bench.

Both scorers joined from Sheen Park over the summer. A tough afternoon in the heat, shaking off the rust.

Ade showed signs of quality, with some beautiful touches and passes, and it was his pass that put Leon through for the second. Leon, LJ to the lads, made an impact on his first start.

The clubs have met before: 2 meetings and 2 wins, 12 scored and 1 conceded. The last two finished 5-0 at home in Sep 25 and 7-1 away in Nov 25.

Thanks to Pure Football for hosting and good luck to them for the season.

SUE'S ANGELS FC 2-0 HILLSIDE ELITE FC BLUES

31 MAY 2026 · LEAGUE TEN · HOME

The story ended exactly how everyone connected with Sue's Angels FC would have hoped. On a sun-blessed final day at The Reeves Sports Club, we dispatched Hillside Elite FC Blues 2-0 to complete an unthinkable feat: eighteen wins from eighteen league matches. Not a single dropped point. Not a single shared spoil. A perfect season in League Ten, the first of its kind since the league's inception in 2021/22. When the whistle went, the significance of it all settled in properly. This wasn't just a win. This was history.

The XI that lined up to seal it reflected the blend of consistency and depth we've built: Luke Munns in goal, Andrew Allen at left back, Daniel McLane and Jim El Bayati at centre half – with El Bayati wearing the captain's armband – Dean Knight on the right, and a midfield pairing of Stewart Luwawa and Kafele Brown sitting deep. Elis Brumpton operated centrally ahead of them, while Jon Lloyd and Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya worked the flanks. Alfie James Inman led the line up front. The bench brought Stephen Potter, Jeev Thilaganathan, Samakab Nur, and Michael Brabrook – fresh legs for a day when control of the contest mattered as much as the scoreline itself.

The occasion carried weight beyond our own ambitions. Hillside arrived needing victory to secure promotion, while down the table Brockwell Violets had already finished their season and needed us to do them a favour. The atmosphere crackled with that peculiar tension that comes when promotion, records, and history all converge on ninety minutes of football. Yet we started professionally and controlled large periods of the game, keeping Hillside at arm's length despite the desperation they brought to their task. The opposition remained organised and competitive throughout – you don't reach a promotion position by accident – but we were never really in danger.

Daniel McLane broke the deadlock in the twentieth minute, finishing from a corner kick to open the scoring. It was vintage McLane, really. He's been one of our most dangerous threats from set pieces all season, a menace to defences when the ball swings in from wide, and his instinct to be in the right place at the right moment showed again here. With that early goal, the pressure shifted. Hillside had to chase the game. We could dictate.

The second half saw us put the match beyond doubt when Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya doubled the lead in the 48th minute. The goal came after a superb solo run from Frazier – direct, powerful, exactly the kind of moment that decides matches at this level. Alfie James Inman provided the assist, and with the score at 2-0, the contest was settled. Hillside's promotion hopes withered further when one of their players received a second yellow card and a red, leaving them chasing the result with ten men. The referee managed the occasion well throughout, keeping the focus on the football despite the pressures and significance surrounding everything.

When the final whistle came, we'd done it. Eighteen wins from eighteen. Fifty-four points – a League Ten record. Ninety goals scored across the league alone. Just eleven conceded. The best defensive record in the division's history. Brockwell Violets got their promotion alongside us as a bonus, which felt right somehow – they'd done their part. Hillside's push fell just short, and you couldn't help but feel for them, but that's the nature of final days.

This is Sue's Angels FC's first season as a club. In thirty-three matches across all competitions, we've scored 137 goals and won eighty-eight per cent of our games. We've reached a cup final, won our league by a margin that speaks to genuine superiority, and claimed promotion at a canter. We're the highest-scoring team across the entire Southern Sunday Football League pyramid. History, records, perfection – it's been an extraordinary debut. And now it's done. The final chapter of an unforgettable first year written exactly as it should have been.

BPR MEN'S 2-4 SUE'S ANGELS FC

24 MAY 2026 · LEAGUE TEN · AWAY

Sue's Angels maintained their iron grip on the top of League Ten with a 4-2 victory over BPR FC on Saturday, keeping their perfect record intact with one game remaining in the season. A dominant first-half display, a nerve-testing comeback from the opposition, and a clinical finishing performance in the closing stages ensured the boys stayed on course for what would be a remarkable perfect league campaign – and that's the kind of thing that deserves celebration at this level, where consistency and hunger don't always go hand in hand.

The XI rolled out as follows: Luke Munns in goal, Andrew Allen at left-back, Dean Knight on the right, Jim El Bayati and Richard Epathite in the centre of defence, Kafele Brown and Stewart Luwawa anchoring the midfield, Abiola Adio, Jon Lloyd, and Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya in the three attacking midfield spots, with Charlie Dunkley leading the line. Off the bench came William Clark, Kyrell Mullings, and Samakab Nur.

Sue's Angels came out of the blocks with purpose and put two goals on the board before half-time through the clinical finishing of Charlie Dunkley. Jon Lloyd set up the opening goal with a well-weighted assist, and Dunkley made no mistake – composed, clinical, exactly the kind of finish that has made him one of the league's most dangerous forwards this season. Minutes later, Dunkley struck again, this time on the back of an assist from Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya, doubling the advantage and seemingly putting the match to bed early. Those two calm finishes – the hallmark of a striker in form – gave us a commanding position and set the tone for what we thought would be a fairly straightforward afternoon.

But football, even at Sunday-league level, has a way of humbling you. Echoing the reverse fixture earlier in the season, BPR emerged from the interval with renewed purpose and clawed their way back into the contest. Two quick-fire goals either side of the break hauled them level at 2-2, and suddenly the ground felt the familiar unease of a game slipping away. The déjà vu was palpable – we'd been here before against these opponents, and the pattern threatened to repeat itself. Credit to BPR; they showed character and refused to go quietly. But it's in moments like these that a team's true mettle is tested, and Sue's Angels didn't blink.

The pivotal moment came when Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya, operating in his usual creative role through the middle, won a penalty. Andrew Allen, responding brilliantly to the disappointment of last week's cup final loss, stepped up and restored our lead at 3-2 with a composed conversion. The significance of that goal cannot be overstated – it was the moment that steadied the ship when the waters were choppy, and it sent a message to BPR that we weren't about to fold. Allen's response after that cup final heartbreak showed character and hunger; this is a player who understands what it takes to bounce back.

In the closing stages, Osunkoya added a fourth, driving through the middle with purpose and finishing confidently on his weaker right foot to seal the points. It was a performance that captured everything the 24-year-old midfielder has brought to the side this season: creativity, decisiveness, clinical finishing when it matters. Beyond his two assists, the penalty he won was the catalyst for our comeback, and that's the kind of all-action contribution that wins leagues.

Luke Munns deserves particular mention for a string of high-quality saves in the first half that kept us in control during moments when BPR threatened to ignite. But it was his distribution that caught the eye too – his ball-playing ability off his feet showed another dimension to his game, and in modern football, even at this level, a goalkeeper who can operate in possession is invaluable. Jim El Bayati, our captain, was named Player of the Match, a recognition of his commanding presence at the heart of the defence and his leadership on the pitch.

With one league game remaining and a 100% record intact, Sue's Angels are now within touching distance of something genuinely special. A perfect league season at Sunday-league level is rare – it demands consistency, professionalism, hunger, and the ability to respond when things go wrong. This performance, for all its wobbles, had all of those things. One more push, and we'll have something to be genuinely proud of.

FC PORTO OF LONDON 3-0 SUE'S ANGELS FC

17 MAY 2026 · DYLAN RIGOBERT TROPHY · NEUTRAL

The weight of that scoreline – 3-0 – will sit heavy on Sue's Angels FC for a while yet. Not because the defeat stings any less, but because it arrived in circumstances that felt almost cruelly constructed to maximise the sting. On 17 May at Robert Parker Stadium, in the club's first ever cup final, the boys found themselves on the wrong side of fine margins and moments of misfortune that, on another afternoon, might easily have gone the other way.

FC Porto of London take the Dylan Rigobert Trophy home. That's the plain fact. But it doesn't tell the story of how we got there, and this story matters because it shapes what comes next.

The XI rolled out in a 5-2-3: Luke Munns in goal, Michael Brabrook at left wing-back, Alfie James Inman, Daniel McLane and Jim El Bayati across the back, Stewart Luwawa and Andrew Allen in midfield, Jon Lloyd and Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya in the ten spaces, and Stephen Potter leading the line. The bench held Jeev Thilaganathan, Kieron Horrill, Danny Jackson and Samakab Nur – a squad ready to chase the game.

Sue's Angels started with real control. Osunkoya came closest early, crashing a volley from outside the box against the post – a moment that deserved to be a goal and probably felt like one for a fraction of a second. Potter had a couple of good openings too as we built our way into the match, moving the ball with intent and purpose. We were the better side in those opening exchanges. Anyone watching would have had us down as favourites. Then, against the run of play, Porto struck from outside the area. The goal fell like a trap sprung by someone who'd been patient and coldly efficient. Worse followed almost immediately. A quick-fire second, and suddenly we were chasing 2-0 at half time despite large spells of positive play. It's the sort of scoreline that can deflate a dressing room, but our lot came back focused and determined to find a way back into the game.

The second half began with real pressure. We pushed forward looking for the momentum to turn. And we got it – in a crowded corner situation inside the box, a foul was given. Penalty. A lifeline. Andrew Allen stepped up and struck it cleanly, but the Porto keeper had it read. Save. That's a moment. That's a turning point some teams never recover from, because the very next phase of play should have brought us another chance to reset our nerves. Osunkoya drove down the wing moments later, was fouled in the box, and we had a second penalty. Another lifeline. Osunkoya took this one and the keeper saved again. Two massive opportunities squandered in the space of a few minutes. You could feel it draining – the momentum, the energy, the sense that the game might still be ours to win. That's when finals are decided, in those narrow windows where teams can either wrest control back or watch it slip away entirely. We watched ours slip.

With about twenty minutes remaining, while we were still pushing forward looking for that breakthrough, Porto cleared defensively and their winger latched onto the loose ball. He ran through into a one-on-one with Luke, and in that crucial moment our keeper slipped. It was the sort of misfortune that can haunt a player, but Luke had been solid throughout. The ball rolled into an open goal and made it 3-0. That was the match.

Fine margins. Missed opportunities. A moment of simple misfortune. That's the narrative the coach put plainly, and it's an honest one. We created chances – more than enough to win a cup final. We didn't take them. Porto did. That's football. That's Sunday League football, where margins are narrower and luck matters because there's no margin for error.

This is Sue's Angels' first season as a club, and they've reached a cup final. That's not nothing. The lessons here are valuable ones about execution, about converting pressure into goals, about how fine the line is between celebration and heartbreak in knockout football. There's no shame in losing like this – only in the feeling that it could have been different. And that feeling, properly channelled, is exactly what builds sides that come back stronger.

Porto deserved their trophy. They were efficient when it mattered. But both sides will meet again, and next time Sue's Angels will be wiser for this afternoon's experience.

SUE'S ANGELS FC 10-1 SPORTING CLUB CATANIA

26 APRIL 2026 · LEAGUE TEN · HOME

There are some victories that don't just win games. They announce something. Sue's Angels FC, in their debut season, secured the League Ten title in the kind of performance that leaves no doubt about where they belong: on Saturday morning, they dismantled Sporting Club Catania 10–1 at The Reeves Sports Club, and in doing so, mathematically confirmed promotion and the league championship with games still to play. This wasn't a title won by grinding through a tense afternoon. This was a statement. This was a club arriving.

The XI took the field with no hint of the nerves that might reasonably accompany knowing the league title hung in the balance. Luke Munns in goal; Jon Lloyd, Elis Brumpton, Daniel McLane, Jim El Bayati – captain – and Dean Knight across the back line; Andrew Allen and Stewart Luwawa in the middle; Stephen Potter and Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya as support strikers; Charlie Dunkley leading the line. It was a familiar shape, a settled one, and it showed. From the opening whistle, Sue's Angels played with a freedom and a confidence that suggested they'd already accepted the inevitable. The boys delivered something close to football at its most straightforward and most devastating: relentless intensity, attacking quality, and the kind of ruthlessness that comes when a team knows they're better and refuses to apologize for it.

Catania had no answer. Early goals came – Dunkley opened the account, Luwawa adding a second from a set piece with Lloyd providing the assist – and rather than tightening up, rather than managing the lead, Sue's Angels simply continued. This was the point where you could see the gap in class. Potter added a third; Dunkley made it four. The flow didn't stop. Osunkoya – who would run the show all afternoon – made it five before Potter completed his hat trick. It was relentless, and it never felt like overkill because Catania simply couldn't function against what was being asked of them. The intensity never wavered. The movement never stopped. By halftime, the tie was already settled.

The second half produced more of the same. Osunkoya struck again, this time from a set piece, with Kieron Horrill supplying the assist. Dunkley completed his brace to make it eight. Osunkoya finished his hat trick, then Potter rounded off the scoring to make it ten. Each goal came with the kind of ease that only happens when a team is playing at a completely different level. Luke Munns's assist on one of those goals – a goalkeeper's contribution – somehow felt entirely consistent with the evening's trajectory. When you're the best side in the division, everything you do tends to work.

The substitutions told their own story. Jon Lloyd, Daniel McLane, Dean Knight, Stephen Potter, and eventually Charlie Dunkley himself all came off, replaced by Michael Brabrook, Danny Jackson, Kieron Horrill, Samakab Nur, and Jeev Thilaganathan. It was a chance to rest the troops, to rotate, to give squad depth a chance to shine – and Jackson, coming on, provided two assists to prove the bench was ready when called upon.

Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya took Man of the Match, and rightfully so. A hat trick, a constant attacking threat, a dominant display from start to finish. He was everywhere, causing chaos, making the right run, finding the right space. But the truth is that he was operating in a team that moved as one, that understood the assignment, that played with the kind of collective clarity that championship-winning sides display.

This is what it looks like when a club in its first season doesn't just compete for a title but obliterates everyone in their path. Sue's Angels secured promotion and the League Ten crown in front of their home crowd at The Reeves, and they did it not by defending a lead or grinding out results, but by dismantling every side they faced and, on this particular Saturday, showing Catania exactly why they belong at the top of this division. The trophy presentation comes at the league's end-of-season event, but really, it was already decided here. The boys have announced themselves. And they're not done yet.

MALA VIDA FC 1-2 SUE'S ANGELS FC

26 OCTOBER 2025 · SUPREME TROPHIES MARCUS LIPTON CUP · AWAY

Sue's Angels FC pulled off a proper smash-and-grab on Saturday, grinding out a 2-1 victory away to Mala Vida FC in the first round of the Marcus Lipton Cup. It was the kind of afternoon that lives in the memory – a performance built on grit, organisation, and the ruthlessness to punish two moments of chaos when they came. The boys go through to the second round, and they've done it against higher-division opposition at that, with half the squad missing through injury and unavailability.

The XI that took to the pitch was a lean, fighting unit, shaped in a 3-5-2 to give us shape and compactness. Luke Munns in goal, with Ross Tomassi, Andrew Allen, Dean Knight, and Sean Sheehan forming a five-man defensive spine across the back. Abiola Adio handled the right-wing-back berth, while Stewart Luwawa, Kafele Brown, and Malachi Mullings occupied the midfield. William Clark and Charlie Dunkley led the line. Jeev Thilaganathan was on the bench, ready if needed.

From the first whistle, Mala Vida showed why they play their football in the divisions above. They moved the ball with a comfort we don't often see on a Sunday morning, worked the pitch with intelligence, and kept possession in a way that announced their pedigree. For large swathes of the first half, we were chasing shadows – but that was the plan, or at least it became the plan. Mala Vida's technical quality meant they carved out chances, and their constant pressure eventually told. A penalty was awarded, and they converted it with the efficiency you'd expect. We went in at half time trailing 1-0, up against it, but still in the game.

The dressing room talk was simple and honest. Stay compact. Stay in it. Wait for our moment. It's unglamorous football, the kind that doesn't fill highlight reels, but it works when you've got the discipline and the nerve to execute it. Mala Vida continued to dominate possession in the second half, continued to pile on the pressure, and Luke Munns began answering the call with save after save – big ones, difficult ones, the kind that keep your team alive when the tide is against you. He was immense, full stop.

Then the game turned. With fifteen minutes to play, a Mala Vida defender headed clear from a corner. The ball fell loose, and Malachi Mullings was there. A volley. Struck with real venom, right underneath the crossbar, and Luke's opposite number was left helpless. One-one. Suddenly we were breathing.

Five minutes later, we took the lead. Will Clark stepped up to a free kick in a dangerous area – he'd already buried one from a set piece against Hillside a fortnight prior, so there was form there. His effort was clean and well-struck, forcing a save, but the goalkeeper spilled it. Mullings was quickest to react, sharp as anything, and tapped home. Two-one. Against the run of play, against the tide of possession, we were ahead.

Mala Vida threw everything at us in those final minutes. The pressure intensified, the home side visibly tired after the physical toll the game had taken on both sides. Luke produced another save that defied belief to keep us in front. The referee wound up and added six minutes of stoppage time, much to the bewilderment of everyone watching, but we stood firm. When it was done, it was done.

This was a cup performance that will be talked about around the club for weeks. Malachi Mullings was our Player of the Match, and rightly so – two goals don't tell the whole story, but they tell enough of it. Andrew Allen, our captain, and the lads around him defended with real bravery against a side that knew what they were doing. Luke kept us in it when we had nothing else. And when the openings came, we buried them without hesitation.

Sue's Angels progress to the second round. That's the story. That's what matters. We'll be back to full strength soon enough, and we'll be ready for whoever comes next.

SUE'S ANGELS FC 7-2 OLD FREEMEN'S

19 OCTOBER 2025 · LEAGUE TEN · HOME

Sue's Angels' perfect league record remained intact with a commanding 7-2 victory over Old Freemen's at Meadhurst Sports Club, extending the club's unbeaten run to five wins from five and moving the goal tally to an impressive 28 from their opening five matches. The scoreline tells the story of a team in complete control – dominant, fluid, and finding the net with relentless efficiency. Old Freemen's, despite managing two goals, never posed a serious threat to Sue's Angels' ambitions this season, and the morning's work was a statement of intent from a squad moving through the division with real purpose.

The XI took to the pitch in their familiar 4-2-3-1 shape: Luke Munns between the sticks, Andrew Allen at left-back, Michael Brabrook and Daniel McLane as the centre-back pairing, and Dean Knight on the right flank. Richard Epathite and Stewart Luwawa anchored the midfield, while Stephen Potter, Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya, and Malachi Mullings operated behind Charlie Dunkley in attack. The bench held reinforcements in Jeev Thilaganathan, William Clark, and Abiola Adio. From the first whistle, Sue's Angels looked dangerous throughout the match with constant attacking pressure, and Old Freemen's found themselves under immediate siege.

The goals came with impressive regularity. Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya proved unstoppable, finding the net twice and establishing himself as a central threat in the attacking third. The finishing was clinical when it mattered, with Andrew Allen pulling the strings from left-back and earning two assists before Charlie Dunkley also chipped in with two of his own to fuel the attack. Dean Knight added his name to the scoresheet, profiting from the numerical advantage in the final third, while William Clark made a decisive impact from the bench as a centre-forward, adding another goal to the tally. Daniel McLane, the centre-back, also got among the scorers via a set piece – a reminder of Sue's Angels' threat from dead-ball situations. Stephen Potter contributed a goal of his own amid an otherwise strong team performance that maintained momentum through an impressive opening stretch to the season. Malachi Mullings orchestrated play from his position in midfield, providing crucial assists that underpinned the attacking flow.

What made the afternoon particularly notable was Old Freemen's finally breaching Sue's Angels' previously impenetrable defence. Over the first four league matches, the club had kept four clean sheets, a record that had built a protective wall around the season's early narrative. Old Freemen's forward celebrated wildly when his goal went in – a rare moment of joy for the away side, born partly from the rarity of finding the back of the net against this Sue's Angels defence. The second Old Freemen's goal was an unfortunate own goal from Stephen Potter late in the game, a moment of misfortune rather than any systemic collapse. By that stage, the result was long secured, and such incidents barely registered against the backdrop of Sue's Angels' dominance.

Throughout the match, the boys continued to show their attacking quality and intensity going forward, moving the ball with purpose and creating opportunities with alarming regularity. The attacking pressure never relented, and Old Freemen's never found a comfortable rhythm or a way to genuinely trouble Munns in goal. When substitutions came – Brabrook and Knight withdrawn, Thilaganathan moving to centre-back, Clark introduced at centre-forward, and Adio adding fresh legs on the wing – the pattern of play remained the same. Sue's Angels controlled the game from start to finish and dominated large periods throughout, the sort of performance that justifies a perfect record and speaks to genuine quality within the squad.

Five games, five wins, 28 goals scored, just two conceded. Those numbers don't lie. Sue's Angels have announced themselves as serious contenders in League Ten, and performances like this – fluid, clinical, and marked by a relentless attacking intent – suggest they'll only tighten their grip as the season deepens. Old Freemen's will have learned a hard lesson about the level required to compete at the top of this division. For Sue's Angels, it's another statement, another three points, another step towards where the ambition of this club is clearly pointing.

07 THE NUMBERS

What the record actually holds.

Everything on this page is counted from team sheets and match records. Where the record does not carry something, this page says how much of it is missing rather than averaging over the gap.

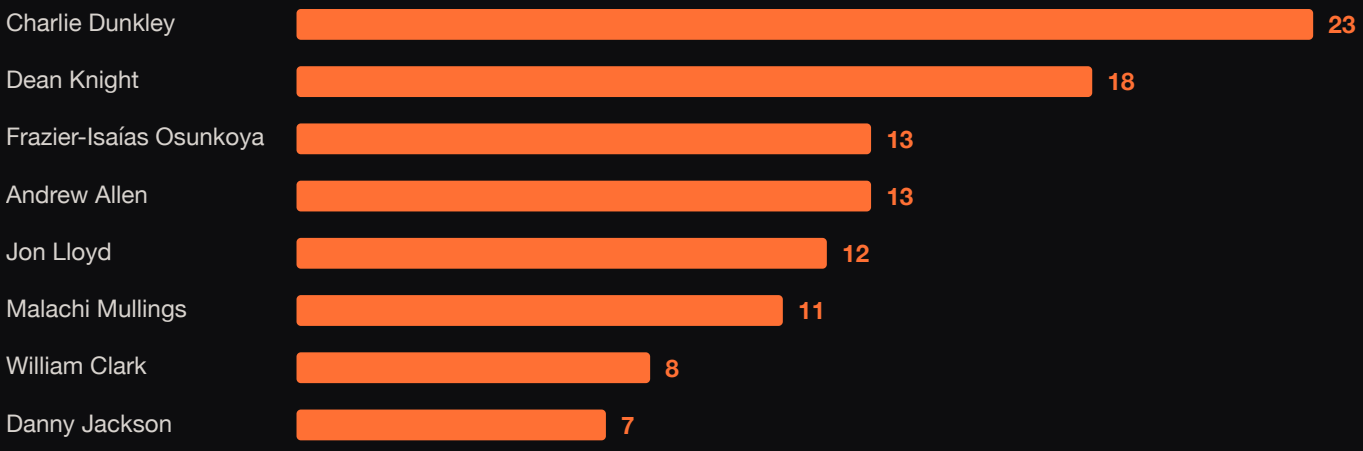

The club's players have scored 160 goals in competitive football. None of them carries a note of how the goal was struck, so there is nothing here about headers, penalties or where on the pitch they came from.

At home the club has played 19 matches, scoring 100 and conceding 16. Away it has played 21 matches, scoring 73 and conceding 21. Walkovers are excluded from both, because the published table adds no goals for one and neither does this.

The club has been shown eleven yellow cards and two red cards in competitive football, across every match on the record.

08 THE COMPETITIONS

League and cup.

The club has competed in seven competitions since it was formed: a league and a set of cups, each with its own character and its own way of ending a season early.

A cup is not a league. One bad morning removes you from it, which is why a club that goes unbeaten in a division can still lose a final, and why the two records below should be read as answers to different questions.

LEAGUE TEN

Played 18, won 18, drawn 0, lost 0. Scored 90, conceded 11. Every match won.

DYLAN RIGOBERT TROPHY

Played 5, won 4, drawn 0, lost 1. Scored 21, conceded 4. The one defeat in this competition is part of the record and printed with the rest of it.

CHIPOTLE UK CHAIRMAN'S CUP

Played 4, won 3, drawn 1, lost 0. Scored 7, conceded 3.

SURREY FA SUNDAY LOWER JUNIOR COUNTY CUP

Played 4, won 3, drawn 0, lost 1. Scored 17, conceded 4. The one defeat in this competition is part of the record and printed with the rest of it.

SUPREME TROPHIES MARCUS LIPTON CUP

Played 2, won 1, drawn 0, lost 1. Scored 2, conceded 3. The one defeat in this competition is part of the record and printed with the rest of it.

LEAGUE EIGHT

Played 4, won 4, drawn 0, lost 0. Scored 20, conceded 3. Every match won.

BRIAN HOWARD PRESIDENT'S CUP

Played 1, won 1, drawn 0, lost 0. Scored 4, conceded 0. Every match won.

09 WORTH WATCHING

What is close today.

A programme cannot tell you what is going to happen this morning, and this one is not going to try. What it can do is point at the things that are close.

These are the round numbers within reach of somebody in today’s squad. None of them is a prediction and several of them will still be sitting there in November, but if one goes this morning it is worth a cheer that the scoreboard will not give it.

At the top of the club’s scoring list, Charlie Dunkley has 31 goals and Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya is the nearest to him on 31.

The club is seven matches unbeaten across all football, friendlies included. A run is only ever a fact about the past and it is printed here as one.

10 PRE-SEASON

How the summer went.

The club played six friendlies before this season started, and won three, drawn one and lost two, scoring 12 and conceding 12. Five of the six were away from home.

None of it counts towards anything and all of it was the point. Pre-season is not there to extend a record: it is there to give players minutes, to try combinations that might not work, and to find out what happens when a match goes badly. A summer of comfortable wins teaches a squad nothing it can use in October.

Friendlies are also counted differently everywhere on this website. Appearances, goals, assists and every career figure the club publishes are taken from competitive matches only, so a friendly eleven is credited to nobody however carefully it is written down. The results below are real; they simply do not enter anybody's record.

PRE-SEASON, IN ORDER

Pure Football FC 2.0, 2 August 2026, away. Won 2-0. Scorers: Leon Burnett, Ade Owolana. A clean sheet, Luke Munns in goal. Stewart Luwawa wore the armband. Played at Barn Elms Sports Centre.

Galacticos Elect, 9 August 2026, away. 2-2, honours even. Scorers: Leon Burnett, Ade Owolana.

Kingsmeadow United, 12 August 2026, away. 0-5. A chastening afternoon. Played at The Matthew Arnold School.

Brentford Town, 16 August 2026, away. 2-3, and it turned on very little.

Kew Antigua, 23 August 2026, away. 2-1, and it stayed close to the end. Scorers: Daniel McLane, Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya.

BPR FC, 30 August 2026, at The Reeves. A comfortable 4-1.

11 THE DIVISION

Who else is in it.

Nine clubs make up the division this season, so there are 16 league matches to play.

Two of the 8 have never been played by this club at all. That is the honest headline for a side that has just come up two divisions: most of this league is unknown to it, and most of this league does not know it either.

BARNES STORMERS FC

Played two times: won two, scoring 14 and conceding 1.

Barnes Stormers FC, 27 September 2026, at The Reeves. 7-1, and it was over early. Scorers: Charlie Dunkley (2), Ade Owolana (2), Leon Burnett, Alfie James Inman. Charlie Dunkley took the Man of the Match. Daniel McLane wore the armband.

Barnes Stormers FC, 8 February 2026, at The Reeves. 7-0, and it was over early. Frazier-Isaías Osunkoya (3) with a hat-trick, and Charlie Dunkley (2), Dean Knight, Malachi Mullings. A clean sheet. Charlie Dunkley took the Man of the Match. Jim El Bayati wore the armband.

BRISTOL CITY (LONDON) SUPPORTERS

Brockwell Violets FC, 14 December 2025, at The Reeves. A comfortable 5-1. Stephen Potter (3) with a hat-trick, and Charlie Dunkley, Daniel McLane. Stephen Potter took the Man of the Match. Daniel McLane wore the armband.

Brockwell Violets FC, 10 May 2026, away. Won 3-1. Scorers: Kieron Horrill, Alfie James Inman, Stewart Luwawa. Stewart Luwawa took the Man of the Match. Jim El Bayati wore the armband. Played at Prince George's Playing Fields.

HAYDONS PARK

Played one time: won one, scoring 8 and conceding 1.

Haydons Park, 13 September 2026, at The Reeves. 8-1, and it was over early. Charlie Dunkley (3) with a hat-trick, and Ade Owolana (3), Leon Burnett, Elis Brumpton. Ade Owolana took the Man of the Match. Daniel McLane wore the armband.

JUNCTION ELITE FC SUNDAY 3RD TEAM

Played one time: won one, scoring 3 and conceding 0.

Junction Elite FC Sunday 3rd Team, 20 September 2026, away. A comfortable 3-0. Scorers: Ade Owolana (2), Charlie Dunkley. A clean sheet, Luke Munns in goal. Ade Owolana took the Man of the Match. Daniel McLane wore the armband. Played at Richardson Evans Memorial Playing Fields.

P PURE FOOTBALL FC 1ST TEAM

Never played. The club has met their Pure Football FC 2.0, which is a different side and carries no record into a fixture against this one.

T TSM ROVERS

Never played. Nothing in the archive, in any competition, in any season.

THREE LITTLE BIRDS FC

Played one time: won one, scoring 2 and conceding 1.

Three Little Birds FC, 6 September 2026, at The Reeves. 2-1, and it stayed close to the end. Scorers: Charlie Dunkley, Jon Lloyd. Elis Brumpton took the Man of the Match. Daniel McLane wore the armband.

12 WHAT COMES NEXT

The season ahead.

A league season is long and this is the first morning of one.

16 league matches will decide it, against eight other clubs, most of which this club has never played. Add the cups and it is a winter of Sunday mornings.

So what is the season for?

The honest answer is that nobody knows yet, and the club is not going to pretend otherwise on the first morning. This is a side that has never played a competitive match at this level. It won every league match it played last year and it has no idea what that is worth two divisions up. Anybody telling you where it finishes in May is guessing.

What the club can say is what it is trying to do. Compete in every match rather than in the ones that suit it. Keep the standards that produced last season rather than the results, because the results were a consequence and the standards were the cause. Give minutes to the players who have earned them and to the ones who signed this summer without a season behind them. Finish the campaign as a stronger side than the one that starts it this morning.

Promotion again would be a remarkable thing and it is not a promise. Staying up comfortably and being a difficult afternoon for everybody in the division would be a good season by any measure, and it is the floor the squad has set itself rather than the ceiling.

There will be defeats. It is worth writing that down now, on the morning when the record is still perfect, because the measure of this group will not be whether it avoids a bad afternoon. It will be what it does the Sunday after one.

One fixture is already on the calendar after today.

Celtic Swans FC, , , home. Brian Howard President's Cup.

14 THE CLUB

Where this club came from.

Sue's Angels FC was founded in 2025. Its first match on record was against Pure Football FC 2.0 on 21 September 2025, at The Reeves, and it finished 5-0.

The first win came against Pure Football FC 2.0 on 21 September 2025, 5-0.

Since then the club has played 44 matches against 29 different clubs at 14 grounds.

The biggest win is 12-0 against Balham Bteckerz, 18 January 2026.

The heaviest defeat is 0-5 against Kingsmeadow United, 12 August 2026. It is in here because a club that only prints its wins is not keeping a record, it is keeping a scrapbook.

None of this is very old. That is the point of writing it down now: the club is at the stage where every match is still a first of something, and in ten years this page will be the only place some of it survives.

15 THE BADGE

What is on the shirt.

The crest is a shield, an angel and a date. Around the bottom of it runs the line the club took as its own: what we do in life echoes in eternity.

It carries 2025, which is when the club was founded, and it carries the name of a person rather than a place. Most clubs are named after a town. This one is named after Susan Anne Martin, which is why the badge has a figure on it and why the club has never treated it as decoration.

The colours are orange and black, and they are on everything: the shirt, this programme, the website, the graphics that go out after full time. A small club is recognised or it is not, and being recognisable costs nothing but consistency.

The club is known as The Angels. It plays in Southern Sunday Football League, out of Hanworth in London, and it is a men's Sunday league football club.

That is the whole identity, and it has not changed since the first Sunday. It is worth putting in the programme because clubs drift: a badge gets modernised, a colour gets softened, a motto gets dropped for being awkward. This one is written down here so that if it ever changes, somebody has to decide to change it.

16 THE GROUND

Where we play.

The Reeves Sports Club on Snakey Lane in Hanworth is where the club trains through the week and plays every home fixture. It is shared with Staines Rugby Club, which is why they appear among the partners at the back of this programme as a partner club rather than as a commercial sponsor.

The club has played 20 matches here and won 19 of them.

There is no turnstile, no admission and no programme kiosk, which is the point of this one being a file rather than a booklet. Stand where you like, and if you are new, somebody will tell you which way we are kicking.

17 HOW THIS IS COUNTED

A note on the figures.

Every figure in this programme is counted from the club's own match records at the moment it was made. Nothing is typed in by hand, which means nothing in here can quietly go out of date while somebody forgets to update it, and it also means the programme is only ever as good as the records behind it.

So it is worth saying what those records do and do not hold.

An appearance is a start, or a substitute the record can prove came on. A name on the bench with nothing beside it is not counted. That is deliberately strict: it means the appearance figures are a floor rather than a guess, and it means they can rise when somebody fills a gap in.

A walkover counts as played and as three points and adds no goals, which is how the published league table treats one. Getting that wrong would move the club's goal figures and its points figures out of step with the official standings.

A friendly counts for nothing in anybody's career figures. The results are real and they are printed, but no appearance, goal or assist from one enters a player's record.

Where the record is thin, this programme says so. eight matches on the record have no team sheet at all, so nobody is credited with playing in them. Some matches have a scoreline and no scorers. Where that is true the paragraph says the scorers were not written down, rather than leaving a blank that reads as though nobody scored.

None of this is an apology. A Sunday-league club keeping records this carefully is unusual, and the gaps are the price of writing down only what somebody actually saw.

18 WHY WE PLAY

In her name.

Sue's Angels FC was founded in 2025 in memory of Susan Anne Martin, who died of sepsis. The club plays for sepsis awareness.

That is the whole of it, and it does not need decorating. Sepsis is the body's extreme response to an infection. It is treatable when it is caught early, and it is missed often enough that charities exist to teach people the signs.

This programme is not the place for medical advice and will not offer any. The UK Sepsis Trust does that properly, and their guidance is a search away. If reading this is the reason somebody looks it up, the club has done something useful with a Sunday morning.

The football is the football. It matters, the results matter, and the club is trying to win a league. But the badge carries a name, and every match played in it is a small argument that she is not forgotten.

Want your name on the shirt or in this programme? How sponsorship works.

Before you go.

Thanks for coming.

There is no turnstile at The Reeves and no admission, so the only way this club knows anybody was here is that they were. If you stood on the touchline this morning, you were part of it.

Playing. The club is always open to hearing from players. There are 34 men registered this season and a Sunday-league squad needs more than it thinks it does by January: work, holidays, injuries and life take their turn at everybody. If you can play, get in touch through the website.

Sponsoring. Everything this club does costs something. Pitch fees, match balls, referees, kit, first aid. The businesses at the back of this programme cover those, and there is room for more of them at every level from a shirt to a single match ball. It is a small amount of money for a real amount of visibility and a club that will thank you properly.

Following. Every result, every match report, every squad figure in this programme and a photograph library going back to the first season are on the website. It is updated the same day, and this programme is built from it, which is why the two can never disagree.

This programme. One is made for every match and they stay on the website afterwards, so a season builds into a set. It is free, it always will be, and it is assembled from the club's own records rather than written from memory.
